Prior to the start of the meeting of the Board of Trustees, a lively discussion took place among the trustees in France on the introduction and chapter 1 of the book entitled, “College, What it Was, Is, and Should Be,” by Andrew Delbanco.

Other members of the Board of Trustees then joined the meeting via conference call. Three resolutions were brought forth and approved by the Board concerning the appointment of officers, and another resolution was brought forth concerning the awarding of degrees from May 2013 to April 2014. (Official Resolutions 2.1, 2.2, 2.3 and 2.4)

A discussion took place concerning the current state of the endowment and the university’s goal of achieving a full year’s budget in the endowment. Currently we are at approximately $49 million. At this point in time there are three areas that need funding which are not included in the budget. They are as follows:

1) Campus Master Plan – something the trustees have wanted for our properties in Winona and the Twin Cities with an estimated cost of $100 - $150,000.

2) Branding Initiative – with an estimated cost of $200,000

3) $650,000 for technology needs. Our CIO, Scott Cowdrey’s original proposal was for $3,000,000. We freed up $600,000 and are now ready to invest another $650,000.
Joe Ross mentioned that from a budget standpoint, overall strategy allows us a 5% draw on the endowment and the budget was modified to allow for a draw. Conversation ensued as to the option of taking a loan from the endowment rather than taking a draw but there was strong support in favor of doing an endowment draw versus a loan. Trustees felt that in light of our strategic plan, that it was necessary going forward that these resources be put into the university.

Regarding the Branding Initiative, several firms have been screened. We have received two RFPs back, one from Tunheim and Simpson Scarborough. After commencement in May these two firms will be on campus to give presentations.

The Board of Trustees meeting then continued on Friday, May 10, 2013 in Winona, MN.

campus in the summer of 2014 which will bring a significant number of young men and women onto campus. The committee discussed how students today arrive on campus with greater needs entailing a greater responsibility on the part of student life personnel in addressing those needs. The accomplishments in athletics were discussed. Three new online programs for the SGPP have been introduced in educational leadership, special education, and health and human services education. A decline was reported in the Graduate School of Education but some special programs are experiencing growth. Trustee Pat Salvi suggested that the university look into developing a policy with regard to abuse and sexual assault and that the authorities always be contacted in these situations. A concern about violating our FERPA policy was brought forward in the discussion saying that we risk losing federal financial aid should the university release information about a student without appropriate consent. A request was made for more interaction with students during our board meetings to discuss a broad range of topics related to their educational experience. Marketing to the Chicago-land area was also brought up and trustees were wondering if we could put a more focused effort in that particular area.
